VEGETORY

Our little story

During ancient times, only farmers can enjoy the most fresh produce right after harvest. Farmers used to harvest early in the morning, thus enjoying fresh and nutritional produce within a day. However, due to the current complex society, daily essentials reaching consumers hands could be transported from far distances. Also, poor handling and pesticide issues can cause produce to lose its original nutrition. Vegetory is an indoor vertical farming / plant factory in Malaysia, setting up at the center of a major city.
